Creating Bespoke Tile Surfaces

As a leading importer and distributor of tiles we work closely with clients to design and manufacture bespoke tile surfaces for interior, commercial, retail, hospitality, restoration and residential design projects.

In our factory, in Armagh, we use waterjet and industrial tile cutting, alongside laser etching technology and traditional hand assembling techniques to manufacture some truly unique floors and features for clients (and their customers).

Whatever the scale of a project, Armatile gives each client access to its latest and most interesting materials, the expertise of its creative design team, its technical knowledge and the highest standards of workmanship. We pride ourselves in tackling projects deemed too difficult for others, and continuously provide innovative tile solutions time and time again.

Armatile has been directly involved in more than 600 commercial tiling projects and use the knowledge and experience gained to offer bespoke design services for individual clients including;

- Product Sourcing (Direct from the best manufacturers worldwide)
